Martina LeMoyne Stars

I cannot stretch patterns as I would like on my Word document software… but you can on your quilting machine!

Order of Quilting

1. Stitch down outer edges as they become available

2. Sashes – Kites bldr x7 around blocks (x5 might work well too - AUDITION) IMPORTANT: I would do all the sashes first, especially when as narrow ones as these are.

   This way they will stay a lot straighter, and the finished effect is just sooo much better.
   Once completed - wind back up to do the border and blocks.

3. 1st border try Kites bldr x5

4. Wide Border
   a. place inner triangles first - Martina tri b p2p
      - use the block centres and ends for placing (audition – see if this works, remember to set the triangle height suitably) or
      - use the repeat block function for working out how many across (and then usual method for placing down the sides).
   b. place outer triangles but NOT in the corners
   c. use a large version of the triangle for the corners - Martina tri a p2p using this larger triangle in the corner give a much nicer finish than just using 2 of the smaller triangles

5. Blocks
   Martina LeMoyne is shown – and when using in a 5½" square – use margins of about .2" or more than likely even less – AUDITION one to start and check

6. Setting triangles:

   side - Martina tri a p2p
